

MEMBERSHIP INFORMATION

The Energy Technology and Environmental Business Association (ETEBA) is a non-profit trade association representing approximately 170 small, large and mid-sized companies and affiliate members that provide environmental, technology, energy, engineering, construction and related services to government and commercial clients. Our mission is to promote the success of our members by fostering market understanding, identifying business opportunities and advocating for our common interests.

Originally formed in 1989 as the Oak Ridge Waste Management Association, ETEBA has been a strong voice for the business community for more than 20 years. ETEBA is a 501(c)(6) national non-profit trade association representing a diverse group of large and small companies that provide environmental, energy, engineering, construction and other technical services to federal agencies and corporate clients.

ETEBA's headquarters are in TN, with working group committees in Tennessee and New Mexico, and an Executive Director in Oak Ridge, TN. It is governed by a volunteer Board of Directors. Our on-line member directory provides a listing of member companies and the services they provide.

ETEBA has an Executive Director in Oak Ridge, TN, business services, administrative and professional event management personnel who support activities and member events in ETEBA chapters.

Membership Eligibility

Companies: Any commercial firm with objectives consistent with the mission of ETEBA may become a Member. Membership applications are reviewed by the Board of Directors, and membership is granted following a majority vote of the Board.

Affiliations: Local, regional, or state organizations or not-for-profit organizations with objectives consistent with the mission of the ETEBA may become Affiliates of ETEBA upon petition to, and approval of, the Board of Directors. Approval consists of a majority vote of the Board at a duly noticed meeting.

New members pay a one-time initial membership fee that includes the first year's annual dues. Renewal dues are billed in January of each year. The fee schedule is listed in the membership packet. Initial membership fees and annual renewal dues are based on the number of total company employees in all offices nationwide. After determining your company's membership level, designate one principal to be your authorized representative. This person will be responsible for establishing and maintaining your on-line presence with ETEBA by entering your company profile; any employee of your company can log into the web site as a member, but only the member contact can edit the profile.

For membership questions, email Linda Short at linda@eteba.org or contact her by phone at: 877-MY-ETEBA (877-693-8322).

MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

Information on Business Issues and Opportunities: ETEBA members receive up to date information to help them stay on top of new program developments and potential business opportunities. These include a Weekly Update, the ETEBA Quarterly Newsletter, email alerts, the annual Business Opportunities Conference and workshops on business and contracting issues.

Networking: ETEBA hosts numerous events that offer the opportunity for members to network with each other, potential new clients and key government and industry leaders. These opportunities include monthly meetings, special events and topical forums. Members can also pursue special interests and issues by serving on ETEBA Committees and Boards.

Marketing of Member Capabilities: ETEBA exhibits at conferences with promotional materials, makes referrals to contracting entities seeking services that can be provided by ETEBA members, and provides information about its members and their job openings on its Website.

Group Advocacy and Representation: Through its Advocacy Committee, ETEBA represents member interests to decision makers at all levels of government, and presents a collective voice on issues of importance to the membership.

Community Involvement: ETEBA has active education and safety programs, and provides a platform for members to give back to their communities by sponsoring scholarships and raising money for local charities.

Staff Resources: ETEBA has an Executive Director in Oak Ridge, a government relations specialist in Washington D.C. and business services, administrative and professional event management personnel who support activities and member events in ETEBA chapters.
